A WORD TO THE TRADE

We do not sell cheap groceries, but we do sell groceries cheap. In other words, while our prices are down, our goods are away up in quality. That is the reason why our trade increases every month we are in business. We couldn't hold our trade on inferior goods, and we wouldn't sell them to you. All we ask is for you to come to our store, get our prices, look at the goods, and investigate thoroughly every order, comparing prices with any you can get. We ask your trade on this basis. Come and see us, and it will not be our fault if you are not entirely satisfied.

BOTH LOVE SAME GIRL.

She Weds One and Trio Come to This Country.

BLOODY FIGHT IS FOUGHT.

Men, Who Are Brothers, While In a Saloon, Have a Terrible Encounter and Go to a Hallway, Fatal Injuries Probably Ensuing.

New York, March 19.—Two brothers who loved the same woman fought with knives and clubs in an East Side saloon until both were so desperately injured they will probably die. The men are George and Giovanni Francesco, who came to America from Palermo about two years ago. There they both had been rivals for the hand of the same girl, who eventually accepted George, the elder brother, and they married shortly before the trio came to New York. Not long after their arrival George began to neglect his wife and at length she left him and went to live with friends at Brooklyn. When the brothers met in an East Side saloon Tuesday Giovanni upbraided George for his treatment of his young wife, and taunted him in front of a number of other Italians and admitted that he still loved the woman. Instantly the brothers closed in a fierce struggle, which ended in a hallway, where they were found unconscious by the police. George's head had been crushed by a blow and the younger man had a deep knife wound in his abdomen.

FATAL ELOPEMENT.

Brother of Bride Slays Groom and Is Himself Shot to Death.

Ashland, Ky., March 19.—Two murderers and the avenger made an outlaw were reported as a result of one man's act at Hellier, Ky. In an old village in southern Virginia Frank Dutton and Alcene Rose met and loved, an elopement followed. Sam Rose, brother of the girl, followed them to Hellier, where in a pistol duel he killed Dutton and almost immediately afterward was himself shot by Elias Dutton, brother of Frank, dying beside his sister's doorstep. Dutton took to the mountains, with a posse in pursuit.

SON SHOOTS SIRE.

Only Recently Learned Father's Wife Is His Stepmother.

St. Louis, March 19.—Dr. Julius H. Weinsberg, a well known physician, is lying in a serious condition at St. Anthony's hospital as the result of being shot four times by his son, Oscar, aged eighteen years. The boy is under arrest. He said he only recently learned his own mother died at his birth and the present wife of Dr. Weinsberg is his stepmother. This caused an estrangement and culminated in the shooting.

BLOCK COLLAPSED.

Two Persons Lost Their Lives, and Ten Others Injured.

Cincinnati, March 19.—A three-story brick block at the corner of Front and Plum streets, which had been surrounded by the Ohio river flood for several days, collapsed, resulting in the death of two persons and injury to ten others. The building was occupied by several Italian families. A middle aged woman and her three-year-old child were instantly killed. The building was surrounded by ten feet of water, which weakened the walls and caused the collapse. The police had much difficulty in rescuing the injured, being compelled to use boats.

GOTEBO NEARLY GONE.

Almost the Entire Portion of Business
District Wiped Out.

Gotebo, Okla., March 19.—Almost the entire business section of this city was wiped out by a conflagration causing a loss estimated at $75,000. The blaze originated in a rooming house and it was difficult, owing to the inadequate fire fighting facilities, to check.

Sailed For Truxillo.

New Orleans, March 19.—The mail steamer Harry T. Inge arrived Monday from Porto Cortez and reported that the Hondurean gunboat Olympia, with 500 troops, three large caliber rifled cannon and several American gunners, had sailed for Truxillo. The troops were supplied with arms shipped from New Orleans on the Inge, which arrived at Porto Cortez March 12. The exact date of the Olympia's sailing is not known.

Allied With Honduras.

Panama, March 19.—According to reliable information received here from Salvador that country has allied itself openly with Honduras in the war with Nicaragua. On March 10, 2,500 Salvadorean soldiers landed at Amapala and proceeded the next morning in the direction of Choluteca. This body came from San Miguel, in Honduras, and under the command of General Jose Dolores Presa.

MEXICAN JUVENILE BAND.

One of the Unique Features of Fort Worth Fat Stock Show.

Fort Worth, March 19.—One of the unique features of the fat stock show is a juvenile band from Mexico, composed of twenty-four members, ranging in age from ten to fifteen years.

These boys are from all sections of our sister republic and have the natural gift of music. Their melodies are soft and low and delightful to listen to. Thrice attractive uniforms were presented them by General Trevino of Monterrey to show his appreciation of their marvelous musical precocity. This is their first appearance on the eastern side of the Rio Grande, and it is worth coming a long way to hear them.

CRUMBLLED AWAY.

Precipitancy of Decline Gave Rise to Revival of Uneasiness.

New York, March 19.—Prices crumpled away during the first hour of dealing in the stock market Tuesday, and the precipitancy of the decline called the market of last week and gave rise to renewed uneasiness. The greatest sufferers from the renewed pressure were the Hill and Harriman stocks, St. Paul, Reading and American Smelting. Selling for foreign account was important element in weakness and fears entertained trouble brewing in some foreign financial markets. It was believed also there was selling out of accounts that were helped through slump of last week on conditions that opportunity should be taken of first recovery in market to reduce holdings. The break in the first hour were ascribed to a variety of causes, chief among them being persistent that one or more failures are imminent. London sold about 60,000 shares in the first hour, chiefly Erie, Southern Pacific and Steel. Call money at 10 a.m. was easy at 4 per cent.

Excitement on the exchange was quite great as that of the previous four days. Considerable stock was thrown on the market at any price it might bring.

It was announced that clearing house sheets from members had gone through. It was intimated in official quarters that several members had been carried over and that their affairs were being investigated by a Stock Exchange committee.

Among the alarming rumors was one affecting a banking house, which is said to have suffered losses on loans and collateral of doubtful value. It was learned from an authoritative source that a private settlement had been effected between at least two

Stock Exchange firms and their creditors. It was also said that all danger of suspension or failure had passed.

PLATFORM DEMANDS.

House Votes That Remainder of Ses-

Austin, March 19.—Resolutions adopted by the house by a vote of 87 to 19 that the remainder of the session be devoted to consideration of platform demands except as to the general appropriation bill, and consideration of local bills on local bill nights and as to consideration of senate bills on senate bills days. This means that platform demands will in a measure have the right of way. This action caused Representative Jenkins to say that it would mean the death of his bucketshop bill.

committee on anti-free bill was adopted in the senate by a vote of 23 to 4.

FOUR RIFLES UTILIZED.

This Is Substance of the Report
Sent Senate Committee

BY A COUPLE OF EXPERTS.

It Is Claimed That the Thirty-Three Shells Picked Up at Brownsville the Morning After the Trouble Came Out of Those Weapons.

Washington, March 19.—That four rifles from Company B, Twenty-fifth Infantry, were used in the Brownsville affray of the ordinance department of the army was substantially the report sent to the senate committee on military affairs concerning the microscopic examinations of the thirty-three shells picked up in the streets of the town on the morning following the shooting.

All of the rifles in the possession of the battalion at Fort Brown on the night of Aug. 13, had been sent to the Springfield arsenal and two shots were fired from each. The shells used were then compared with those picked up at Brownsville and the officers making the tests reported that it had been demonstrated beyond dispute that four guns of Company B were used in the discharge of all the thirty-three shells. The reports were made a part of the committee records and Lieutenant Hawkins of the ordinance department and G. A. Spooner, expert inspector of gauges used in the manufacture of muskets at the Springfield arsenal, are ready to go on the stand to explain the reports and be cross-examined concerning them.

Two of Company B's rifles, said to have been used in the affray, were kept in the storehouse under lock, the key of which was in the possession of former Quartermaster Sergeant McCurdy and the two of their rifles were said to have been issued to Private J. Wilson and Thomas Taylor.

Senator Foraker immediately had subpoenas issued for Taylor and Wilson and for the recall of McCurdy. He also asked that the war department be instructed to send for Lieutenant Laurison, who commanded Company B at the time of the affray. Secretary Taft in a letter to the committee pointed out that the men who did the shooting may have used any guns they could secure and that Taylor and Wilson can not be held to be guilty because of the showing made by the tests at the arsenal.

The committee took up the question of going to Brownsville in connection with the investigation. It was decided that it probably will be necessary to visit Brownsville, but no action was taken toward fixing a time for the trip.

GRAY NEVER IN ARMY.

Recruiting Officer So Telegraphs Department at San Antonio.

San Antonio, March 19.—Very little new testimony was taken Monday in the Penrose court-martial. The cross-examination of Lieutenant Harbol, who went on the stand Saturday, was completed. The trial is drawing to a close and the examination of witness is being shortened.

The story of D. C. Gray's alleged confession is considered here as a fake. A telegram to the department headquarters from Lieutenant Fred Van S. Chamberlain, recruiting officer at Houston and Galveston, says: "Gray's story is a fake. Gray has worked in Galveston seven years, and has never been in the army."

THREE-CORNERED FIGHT.

Two of the Participants Dead and the Other Dying.

Birmingham, March 19.—H. H. Chamberlain, superintendent of the mines of the Crescent Coal company at Slocia, Ala., and Joe Creek, a miner, are dead, and Will Creek, the latter's brother, is dying as the result of a three-cornered pistol fight at the mines.

The miners had been drinking, and were creating a disturbance at the company store, when Chamberlain tried to quiet them. Joe Creek fired upon him, inflicting wounds which resulted in Chamberlain's death several hours later. While lying mortally wounded, Chamberlain fired several shots, one of which killed Joe Creek and fatally injured his brother Will.

The young star-gazer first saw the light of the moon in 1889, and from the wonderful accomplishments since credited to him, it may be safely assumed that he began at once to make inquiries in his infantile mind regarding his abnormal interest in the wonders of the firmament, but before the boy's twelfth birthday his father decided that Hector was an astronomer that golden orb of night shining through the nursery windows.

FINE CHURCH ON PRAIRIE.

Iowa Farmers Have Built a Cathedral Which Cost $85,000.

Eldora, Ia.—At Petersburg, on a prominent point of the fertile prairies of Bremer township, Delaware county, about eight miles northwest of Dyersville stands just completed one of the most beautiful Catholic churches of modern times. It was erected at a cost of $85,000. The church is of a beautiful Gothic design, built of massive rock and cut stone and its dimensions are 54 feet wide and 150 feet long, and at the transepts the church is 74 feet wide. Three beautiful spires adorn the front of the church, and under each of these there are massive arches and also at the transepts supported by strong buttresses giving to the structure five large portals. All the walls are supported by well designed buttresses and the ridges of the roof are decorated with model cresting.

The height of the outside wall is 33 feet and the grand arch inside is 45 feet high and the side arches 40 feet. The basement contains a large chapel well furnished. The building is heated by steam. The windows of the church are of grandly decorated glass, and the center of each represents some figure or event spoken of in holy writ. The high altar is one of the best ever manufactured, and everything that Gothic designs could furnish to enhance beauty and devotion seem to have come together here in a remarkable manner. The altar table and tabernacle are made of highly polished Italian marble inlaid with mosaic work and the finials and baldachins are richly decorated in all that art can produce. The funds to build this church were furnished by

Remarkable Precocity.

The annals of precocity present no more remarkable instance than the brief career of Christian Heinecker, born at Lubeck, February 6, 1721, who died June 27, 1725. At the age of ten months he could speak and repeat every word said to him; at 12 months he knew by heart the principal events narrated in the five books of Moses; in his second year he learned the greater part of the history of the Old and New Testaments; in his third year he could answer most questions on history and geography and learned to speak Latin and French; in his fourth year he learned the history of the church and also learned to write. His death was caused by his unusual brain activity.

THE PROPER THINGS TO DO IN CASES OF BAD ACCIDENTS

The Woman Traveler Who Has Met with Injury Should Not Be in Too Great Hurry to "Settle"—Sign No Paper Before You Have Read It.

BY KATHERINE LOUISE SMITH.

(Copyright, 1907, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

The alarming prevalence of railroad accidents in this country has drawn some severe criticisms on our mode of living by foreigners who contend that there is one accident abroad to ten here. Whether this be so or not, the daily papers are filled with accounts of accidents either by steam or street cars, and one can sympathize with the old sea captain, who, when congratulated on being safe on land and away from the perils of the sea, replied: "Not at all. I feel safe on the sea. There is no danger of some blamed street sign falling on me as I walk!"

Railroad and street car corporations claim to take every precaution, but it is a noticeable fact that when a severe accident occurs, some representative is apt to call immediately and offer to settle, rather than to trust the law to collect damages. As many women do not know what to do under these circumstances, a few suggestions regarding accidents when traveling may not come amiss. Many a woman has, in the distress and fright caused by an accident, accepted a sum for damages that later on she realized was in no way adequate or commensurate with her fright and injuries.

A railroad or street car company is liable for any injury caused by their carelessness or neglect. For this reason when a woman is injured in an accident in the cars or in a public conveyance, she should, if she is able, obtain the names and addresses of persons who were in the accident or saw it. If she is not able to do this herself, she should get some one to do it for her. The sooner this is done the better, and an advertisement in the papers stating that the names of all parties who witnessed the accident are desired, will usually bring a number of names, either of persons who were in the accident, or saw it. It is astonishing how many witnesses can be discovered for even a trivial matter.

This is undoubtedly an unjust thought as regards many men, but it is just as well for each side of the case to have its own witnesses. Suits for damages must be brought within a certain time. If you were injured at that time, and can prove it, it is possible you can yet collect something unless you made a settlement with the railroad.

"I am told that I can collect damages from a street car company for injuries received, but if the man who represents them says I cannot, what shall I do?"—Miss Timidity.

Do not take the law of your case from the claim agent or attorney of the company, who naturally argues on his side. If the company denies their liability, take the case to some good lawyer whom you know or who is recommended to you. Generally it is wise to get the opinion of an attorney who has a reputation as a successful personal injury lawyer.

"If I carry an accident insurance, does that prevent my applying for damages to the company who owns the railroad, if I am injured on the train?"—An Anxious Woman.

No, certainly not. Your accident insurance will not interfere at all. On the other hand, it will be a help to you, for if one company pays you accident indemnity, it will be hard for another company to deny that you are injured. Take your case to some responsible lawyer.

"Please state how much can be recovered when a person is killed in an accident?"—A Bereaved Parent.

In some states the amount recoverable from death by accident is limited to $5,000. In many cases less is recovered when a person dies than when a person is permanently injured and death does not ensue.

There is shown herewith a sample of a French tea-cosy which will find many uses in the American household. It is designed on white linen and worked in washing cottons, and should be so arranged that it can be easily removed from the made cosy itself for washing.

Make your cosy with cotton wool and cover it with muslin, lining it with quilted silk to match any of the colors used in the embroidery.

The entire design is worked in pinks and greens, only one thread of the cotton flosses being taken at a time.

The leaves and stems are all greens, the flowers and knot of ribbon, securing them as well as going round the design, entirely of pink.

The stem is composed of lines of stem stitch worked with a little of the linen seen between them. The stem stitch edge of the leaves is of a darker shade than that used for the flake stitch.

The wheeling edge is seen in Fig. 1. Begin at the left-hand corner, and work as for button-hole, keeping your thread under the needle and working the stitches quite straight, of equal lengths, and with the same space between each spike.

Figs. 2 and 3 show flake stitch, which is merely rather long stitches placed side by side. The stitches in some parts are of unequal length when projecting from the edge to the inside of the leaf, and yet being close together at the edge, while, as in the ribbon, they form a pattern where the edges are unequal on both sides.

The coloring here is very pretty, as the pink and green form a charming contrast.

THE HESSIAN FLY, ITS HABITS AND SUGGESTED REMEDIES

A Treatise Compiled by H. A. Gossard and J. S. House, the Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

The Hessian fly is a native of the old world, probably of western Asia, the cradle of primitive wheat culture, though the most certain proofs regarding its early distribution refer to its occurrence in Europe. Its spread has doubtless followed quite closely the world-wide dispersion of its host plants, wheat, rye and barley. It is known to occur in nearly every Eu-tions. There is a general impression that some varieties are comparatively immune from injury, and there are records which furnish a real basis for the opinion.

The rank, dark green leaves young plants, attacked by the fly, are well known to most wheat growers. Later the blades become yellow or brownish and, unless uninfested tillers develop, the plant dies during the winter. The progeny of the spring brood, larvae and flaxseeds, found under the culms, usually at the first joint, though they may be at the second and occasionally at the third. The straw is weakened at the point of attack and frequently broken, the head falling to the ground. Considerable loss is sustained from straw falling too low to be cut by the reaper. In bad cases of infestation from 50 to 80 per cent of straw may fall.

In figure 1 is shown a photo-of 560 infested straws of valley and an equal number of infested of the same variety. These two straws furnish the following compa-

European state and has also found its way into most of the important wheat producing regions of the world. It is found over most of North America, where wheat is grown, from Texas to the far northern fields of British America. In our opinion it is capable of adapting itself to almost all vicissitudes of climate that are not uncongenial to its host plants. The territory in North America over which it has spread by natural diffusion lies in a solid block, and we believe the boundaries of this infested area will be further enlarged by extension in every direction so long as host plants are available. An exception to this general rule of diffusion may possibly be found in restricted districts where excessive drought prevails at seasons not prohibitive of wheat production, but probably affecting vital periods in the life history of the fly.

The adult female is a small, dark colored fly, about one-tenth of an inch long, possessed of two wings, and looks like a small mosquito. When first hatched, the reddish colored abdomen, distended with eggs, emphasizes the simulation of the insect to a small mosquito, filled with blood. The male is smaller and more slender than the female, darker in appearance, and has longer and more conspicuous whorls of hair on the antennae.

The egg is about one-fiftieth of an inch long and one-seventh as wide as long, the ends being smoothly rounded. The surface is smooth and shiny, the color passing from thin, translucent, honey yellow, when newly laid, through orange yellow to reddish as hatching time approaches.

Under normal conditions the eggs, minute, orange-reddish, elongated specks, barely visible to the unaided eye, are laid in the longitudinal creases or furrows on the upper surface, especially where the leaves are turned bottom side upward. Again they are deposited on the stalks or just between the stalk and the sheathing base of the leaf. In confinement, the female will deposit on almost any plant available or, if no plant is at hand, on the sides of the enclosing vessel or in the dirt at the bottom of the same.

When newly hatched, the young larva is reddish in color, slightly larger than the egg and, when observed through a good microscope, is seen to be composed of 13 segments. It starts at once down the leaf, following the groove or crease in which it hatched, or an adjacent one, until it reaches the base; from this point it burrows between the leaf sheath and the stalk until it reaches the foot of the culm, close to the root in the case of fall wheat, and just above the first, second or third joint in case of spring wheat.

While on this downward journey, which may occupy several hours, the young larva is easily deflected from its course by dirt particles or mechanical obstructions, and may lose its hold and fall to the ground, or may die and in a dried and shrivelled condition remain for a time on the leaf.

It seems improbable that a larva, once on the ground, can survive to reach its normal position on a wheat plant.

At a very early period it was no

THE MORNING EAGLE

Entered at the Postoffice in Bryan, Texas as second-class matter.

BY CARNES & WALLACE

The Eagle is authorized to announce H. E. PEVERLEY as a candidate for the office of City Secretary at the ensuing City election in April.

BRYAN, TEXAS, MARCH 19, 1907.

WORK ON CITY PARK WELL.

Contractor A. H. Eaves of Wellborn is here and will begin work this morning—hopes to finish in two weeks.

Mr. A. H. Eaves of Wellborn arrived here yesterday from the Koppe plantation in the Brazos bottom with his steam power hydraulic well drilling outfit, and will begin work this morning under contract with the city, on a new well in the city park to supply water for sprinkling. The well is to be 200 ft. deep, 6 inches diameter, standard casing to be put in. Mr. Eaves estimates the work will require two weeks, though this cannot be definitely determined, as more or less time may be required according to the character of the work.

The beginning of the work on this well is good news to the community, as the dust storms recently have been such as to try the patience of all, and the prospects of settling the street sprinkling problem at an early date are truly gratifying.

DEATH OF MRS. G. B. FRANKLIN.

Mrs. G. B. Franklin died at her home at Benchley Sunday morning at 8:20 o'clock. Mrs. Franklin was about forty years old and was the wife of the H. & T. C. agent at that place. She had been seriously ill and her death was not unexpected by the family and friends, but it was no less a sad blow to hearts which are now bowed down in unspeakable sorrow for the devoted wife and mother, whose noble Christian life was an inspiration to all. The remains were taken to Joshua, Johnson county, for burial.

BARBER SHOP NOTICE.

Beginning Monday, March 18, our barber shops will open at 7 a. m. and close promptly at 7 p. m., except on Saturday when shops will be open until mid-night. Will be adhered to until P. L. Winter, J. E. Grice.

AT COLLEGE STATION.

This Week Marks Close of the Winter Term at A. and M. College.—Other Notes.

This week is examination week, and marks the close of the winter term. As a result, the barracks are quieter than usual and some midnight oil is being burned.

Judge T. N. Jones of Tyler has accepted the invitation of the faculty to deliver the commencement address in June.

The recital at the college chapel last night was thoroughly enjoyed by the students and most of the college community. Miss Katherine Eggleston presented as a monologue that charming love story, "When Knighthood Was in Flower."

Dr. O. M. Ball, professor of botany and expert in plant diseases, left Saturday on a short visit to Rockport and other South Texas points. The trip is the result of an urgent appeal from citizens of that country, whose crops are afflicted with an unknown disease.

Mr. R. J. Windrow, civil engineer, '06, and Mr. Hal Yakey, agriculturist, of the same class, were visitors on the campus during the past week. Mr. Windrow is employed on the Santa Fe's extension of the Jasper & Eastern in Louisiana, while Mr. Yakey has been superintending some feeding tests at Groesbeck, which are to determine the value of cotton seed meal as a feed for hogs. The test has about been completed, but the results have not yet been made public.

KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS SERVICE.

Special Sermon by Dr. Butler at the First Baptist Church Before Members of the Popular Order.

Sunday morning at 11 o'clock at the First Baptist church, in response to an invitation from the lodge, Dr. Geo. B. Butler preached a special sermon before members of Brazos Lodge No. 64, Knights of Pythias, who attended in a body. A very large crowd was present, filling the auditorium and Sunday school room. The musical features of the service were as usual very fine.

Dr. Butler read as a scripture lesson Paul's letter to Philemon and selected his text from John xv., 13: "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends." The subject of the discourse was "Brotherhood," and the theme was beautifully elaborated in all its phases. The story of Damon and Pythias was effectively related in connection with the sermon, and the noble principles and purposes of the order were forcefully presented, its mission being indicated. While Dr. Butler, who is a member of the order, gave his unqualified endorsement, he also pointed out that this nor any other institution of men can take the place of the church of the living God.

Our Entire Stock of

New Spring Suits

For Men and Young Men

Is now ready for your inspection and a Superb Stock it is—no past seasons' showing will even compare with it, both in the immense variety of styles and the beauty of the patterns we show—every style that is correct, every pattern and fabric that is desirable.

Nearly One Thousand Spring Suits

Here to make your selection from. Just think of it, no other store between Dallas and Houston can begin to show such a vast assortment of styles, such a complete range of sizes. We are never satisfied with past successes, each season's offerings must be better than the last—and this one surpasses them all. Come in and look it over. We know you will be charmed with the styles, the fabrics and the niceties of tailoring that elevate it above all past showings and as for values we leave that for you to judge—but we know they are right.

The Most Popular Patterns This Season

The small club checks, shadow plaids and stripes in various shades of grey and the new fancy and plain blue serges. We have them in every combination of pattern and weave, in either single or double breasted styles, although the new straight front single breasted coat is the correct thing this season. Our prices range as follows:

$10.00, $12.50, $15.00, $16.50, $18.00

$20.00, $22.50 and $25.00

Miss Rosalie Taylor of this city has entered the list of contestants for one of the scholarships offered by the Houston Post in the contest just inaugurated. Miss Rosalie's friends and the public are asked to kindly render her such assistance as opportunity affords, all of which will be highly appreciated. She is the daughter of Mr. R. S. Taylor and a young lady of fine mental endowments and habits of study such as abundantly fit her for higher education, and all support given her will be most worthily bestowed.

A leading business man of Bryan remarked yesterday in the presence of the Eagle representative that fifteen cars of commercial fertilizer have been received here this season. "Estimating 200 pounds to the acre," said he, "you will see how much land those fifteen carloads will supply." The effect of the use of fertilizer in the increased yield of cotton has become so generally recognized that it is no longer a question of experiment. It is a condition that has come not only to stay but to grow of more importance every year, and the same may be said of other crops.

Miss Gertrude Eaves is a candidate for one of the scholarships offered in the Houston Post contest just now beginning, and continuing until May 15, and will heartily appreciate the efforts of one and all in her behalf. All votes cast up to March 27 will count double. Miss Eaves is a pupil of the Texas Woman's College, and will have choice of the institution in which to take the scholarship if she is successful in winning it. Possessed of a bright mind, she is also energetic and studious, and in every way worthy of the honor which her friends and the public now have an opportunity to bestow upon her.

BAILEY SPEAKS.

Guest of Texas Cattle Raisers and Have Done More Good For Society Than Any Other Force.

Fort Worth, March 19.—Senator Bailey arrived here Monday afternoon and made an address at Herman park. He was given a rousing welcome.

After dark the Knights of Bovina gave a parade, which was witnessed by thousands of people, and near the head of this parade, drawn by four snow-white horses, rode Senator Bailey. As he passed, for almost miles, one might say, between a solid mass of humanity, he was cheered as Fort Worth seldom cheers anybody or anything, even during a cattleman's convention. On arrival at Hermann's park, a resort just outside the main portion of the city and a short distance beyond the court house in the direction of the packing house, he found another great crowd awaiting him. When he got up to speak he was given an ovation. He had uttered possibly twenty-five words when he was interrupted and presented with a diamond-studded emblem of the Knights of Bovina, which, it is said, cost $275. When the badge had been fastened just over his heart he turned to the multitude and said:

"I laid aside a most important business matter and I traveled almost 2,000 miles in order that I might meet you here tonight. I didn't count my own interest. I did not count the fatigue of the journey when I was summoned to this occasion. I came, first because it was to be held in the city of Fort Worth (cheers), which numbers more good men and fewer bad ones in its population than any other city in the state of Texas. (Cheers.)

One of the reasons that I am not so popular in another city whose name rises to my lips (Voices—Dallas) is that I have never had any sympathy with the effort to establish a waterway that couldn't be navigated over there. (Wild cheering.) What they want is a waterway without ship (Laughter), but one which would enable them to have the advantage of waterway competing freight rates, and if they could once obtain it they would close up every wholesale house in northern and central Texas.

"I am not the kind of a statesman that relishes that kind of a project (cheers) and for that reason I am not popular in a certain city by the Trinity river. (Cries—"That's Dallas," and renewed cheering.) If the Trinity river should be made or declared—because it cannot be made navigable, it is so narrow, and with such bends in it that the front of the boat would run in one bank before the rear had passed the end of the other bank (Cheers). But if the Trinity river could be declared navigable to Dallas, Fort Worth would have either to move to Dallas or take their shovels and their picks and dig a canal from here to there. (A voice, "We would do it," followed by laughter.) Yes, my friend, you would do it, so help me God, and you will never be compelled to do it. (Cheers.)

"Let me make you this promise tonight, and I do not make it under any emotion produced by your generous kindness, but deliberately, as the result of deep reflection. If the balance of them can make the Trinity river navigable to Dallas I can make it navigable to Fort Worth (cheers) and I will do it. (Cheers.)

"Now, my countrymen, they have known that long before I told it to you, and that's the reason there were so many active politicians over there. A voice—They did not do anything, though.

Another voice—They are dead ones, though. (Laughter.)

Senator Bailey—Yes, and if the cattlemen will let me borrow an expression from the ranch, they are too dead to skin. (Cheers.)

COMMISSION MEASURE.

Senate Passes to Engrossment Bill Providing For Same.

Austin, March 19.—The senate passed to engrossment Senator Senter's bill providing for the creation of a commission of three men to recommend to the next legislature measures for the reform of the judiciary. These proposed measures may be either statutory or constitutional, so that it is possible that radical innovations may be brought about in judicial procedure. As introduced, the bill provided that only one of the commissioners should be appointed by the government; of the other two, one is to be named by the justices of the supreme court and one by the justices of the court of criminal appeals. But, as engrossed, the bill provides that all three of them shall be named by the governor.

The senate also passed to engrossment a bill, which if it shall become a law, will make violation of the anti-trust laws a more serious matter than it is now. The measure referred to provides that in addition to the fines and forfeitures prescribed for the offenses of the officers of such offending companies shall be liable to imprisonment.

Oklahoma City, March 19.—The Oklahoma Jewelers' association was organized at a meeting here, with the following officers: Joe Majors of South McAlester, president; W. C. Psaflie of Enid, vice president; F. C. Boasen of Oklahoma City, secretary, and T. F. Miller of Tenkawa, treasurer.

Badly Burned.

McKinney, March 19.—Mrs. J. S. Lansdale, mother of Sumner Lansdale, city editor of the daily Courier-Gazette. She was burning trash in the yard, when her clothing caught fire. She ran across the street to a neighbor's house, who succeeded in extinguishing the flames; however, not until her clothing was nearly burned off.

Goes Dry.

Emory, Tex., March 19.—In the prohibition election held here the county went dry by twenty-six votes. The whisky men had already made plans to put in saloons in Emory, but left town.

BRYAN FAVERS UNIONS.

Guest of Texas Cattle Raisers and Have Done More Good For Society Than Any Other Force.

Chicago, March 19.—Hon. William Jennings Bryan, at the closing conference in connection with the Industrial Exhibit, expressed the opinion that trade unions have done more good for society than any other force in this country. Although he disclaimed any "scientific" knowledge of the question, Mr. Bryan's remarks were received with much satisfaction by the audience of union men from the Federation of Labor present.

"The unions have made some mistakes, but they have accomplished more good," was the keynote of his speech. He paid a tribute especially to the organization of women in this connection.

"When we consider that through trade unions wages have been increased, hours shortened, and comfort afforded the workingmen in greater measure," he said, "I think we have a right to say the benefits resulting from these unions cannot be overestimated. Perhaps no other force in the country ever has been so effective for improvement in the citizenship and general moral qualities of our people."

"The Australian ballot system, for one thing, is largely due in this country to the agitation of trade unions. I almost feel safe in saying that had it not been for the interest taken in this reform by these organizations, we might still be employing the old system of voting."

"If the labor union has never done anything else than raise the age limit of employment for children in the mines and factories of this nation, I believe that accomplishment alone would justify its existence. No influence in this country ever has been so evil in its effects as the tendency to crowd our workshops with children of tender years. It is a most destructive tendency and one that the public conscience should protest against."

Referring to women in industry, Mr. Bryan said he believed women might accomplish as much as men through organization into unions.

Everything on Exhibition Was Manufactured at Louisville.

Louisville, March 19.—The application of President Roosevelt's thumbprint in the white house let loose a jangling of bells and a screeching of whistles Monday afternoon which told the people of the formal opening of the Greater Louisville exposition.

Immediately upon the uprear Creator and his band swung into "Dixie" and the exposition march, and after addresses by President T. A. McDonald, Governor J. C. W. Beckham, Mayor Paul Barth and William Rogers Clark of Lexington, the day's exercises were concluded.

Thousands of visitors arrived during the day to attend the unique exposition of "everything, painted, grown, bought, sold or manufactured in Louisville." All foreign works have been strictly excluded.

The government exhibit sent by the war department, navy, treasury and postoffice departments are comprehensive and unusually attractive.

YOAKUM AND PRESIDENT.

Have Their Second Conference Within the Past Ten Days.

Washington, March 19.—The president had a conference Monday with B. F. Yoakum, chairman of the board of directors of the Rock Island Railroad company. This is the second conference the president has had with Mr. Yoakum within the past ten days. The latter has often declared himself as unreservedly in favor of close co-operation between the railroads and the Federal government, and he emphasized his previous statements by saying that he was in favor of the closest possible relationship between the two.

He declined to discuss the purpose of his interview with the president.

Cleveland Seventy Years Old.

New York, March 19.—By order of Mayor McClellan the vesta and city flags were run up upon the city hall flag staffs Monday in honor of former President Grover Cleveland, who is seventy years old. This compliment is said not to have been paid any private citizen in the past half century.

Found Unconscious, Soon Died.

Birmingham, March 19.—Clerks opened the store of Chambee Bros. clothing merchants, found Frank P. Chambee, a member of the firm, lying unconscious on the floor. He died an hour later. Investigation showed that Chambee went to the store alone Sunday, and while there suffered a stroke of apoplexy which rendered him unconscious. He lay in the store without help all night.

COSTLY BLAZE.

Eight Linotype Machines In Newspaper Office Wrecked.

Augusta, Ga., March 19.—In a fire which started at 3:30 o'clock Tuesday morning the office of the Augusta Chronicle was ruined. The main office of the Western Union Telegraph company and the union city ticket office were destroyed. Eight Linotype machines in the Chronicle office were wrecked and the presses and paper badly damaged. The losses are estimated at $75,000 to $100,000 with but partial insurance. The fire started in the Chronicle job office, owned by Murphy & Billings, in the rear of the Chronicle building. The fire was under control at 8 o'clock. The Chronicle are able to print a four-page paper from the Herald office at 10 o'clock.
